This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. TO TEACHERS.

IN conducting recitations in this work, classes should be required,

1. To READ OR PRONOUNCE THE LIST OF WORDS assigned for oral spelling, omitting letters that appear in italics, and distinctly uttering the sounds of consonants, and of vowels that occur in unaccented syllables. While pupils are thus acquiring a correct pronunciation, their attention is so carefully directed to the form of words as to render this a valuable exercise in orthography.

2. To SPELL ORALLY.—The teacher should pronounce the words correctly, without regard to their orthography; and pupils, in general, should merely name the letters of words, making a marked pause at the end of each syllable, and imitating the teacher in their pronunciation. Pupils who misspell words should be required to write them on the blackboard, and to correct them before the class.

3. To READ THE DICTATION EXERCISES.—After pupils have pronounced the words assigned, and spelled them orally, they should be required to read the corresponding Dictation Exercises with great care. This will serve both to test their pronunciation and to recall their attention to the form of the words.

4. To WRITE DICTATION EXERCISES.—The teacher should read the sentences, slowly and distinctly, while the pupils write them. When slates are used, they may be expeditiously examined by requiring pupils to exchange, so that each one shall become the inspector of his neighbor's work, while the teacher spells the several words.

PREFACE.

THE constantly increasing demand, among the most experienced and successful educators, for a small, comprehensive text-book, adapted to the wants of Public Schools and the lower classes in Academies and Seminaries, which shall furnish the most approved methods of teaching Orthography and Orthoëpy, has induced us to devote several months to the preparation of this little volume.

The following facts, which are now so generally recognized, have determined its form and arrangement: That the most expeditious mode of learning Spelling is by the eye; that the definitions and the use of words, as well as their orthography, are soonest acquired by frequently writing Exercises from dictation; that, by a thorough classification, the Spelling and Pronunciation of extended lists of words may be learned with nearly the same facility as of separate ones; and that Orthoëpy and Orthography should be simultaneously taught.

Consistently with these views, the words presented are strictly classified with regard to their formation, vowel sounds, alphabetic equivalents, accent, and number of syllables; and, by the use of numbered vowels and marked consonants, a list of which will be found on each leaf, their exact pronunciation is invariably given. The monosyllables are first introduced, commencing with the three words of one letter, in accordance with our well-known system of word-building; and these are followed by dissyllables, trisyllables, and polysyllables. So carefully has the orthoëpical department been prepared, that the omission of silent letters, which appear in italics, renders this a purely phonetic Spelling-book.

Conscious of the importance of restricting this work to the least possible limits that shall not impair its usefulness, we have taken special pains to exclude derivatives that do not so vary from their primitives as to lead to errors in spelling, pronunciation, or signification. The omissions thus made are provided for by lists of Prefixes and Affixes, which are fully explained. The vocabulary has also been enriched by the introduction of several hundred euphonious and peculiarly significant words that have not heretofore appeared in similar text-books.

The lists of words are invariably followed by exercises for writing from dictation. These exercises are composed of short, perspicuous, and carefully-framed sentences, which embrace words that are liable to be mispronounced or misspelled, as well as numerous definitions. In these sentences we have aimed to give a clear conception of the peculiar import of unusual words; and to discriminate between synonymous terms, using them in their appropriate sense. Many words, however, have been purposely omitted, with the expectation that pupils will be required to construct short sentences, in which the meaning and the use of all words that do not appear in the Dictation Exercises shall be correctly represented.

The introductory exercises of this volume are simple, terse, and complete, presenting the definitions and the elements of Orthography and Orthoëpy. At its close, Miscellaneous Exercises are added, containing—Effect of Accent in Certain Words; Names of Persons; Rules for Spelling; Prefixes and Affixes, their Meaning and Effect; Rules for the Use of Capital Letters; Marks used in Written Language; Choice of Prepositions; Abbreviations; and Foreign Words and Phrases. These exercises are accompanied with explanations, and Dictation Exercises illustrative of their use and application.

In the revision of this work, Dr. Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, as revised in 1864, has been adopted as our standard of orthography. This work has also been our principal authority on the subject of pronunciation; though, in disputed cases, we have constantly consulted Dr. Worcester's Dictionary, and the works of B. H. Smart, Esq., the veteran orthoëpist of England,—always, however, employing one of the forms approved by Dr. Webster.

New York, July 25th, 1865.

ORTHOGRAPHY.

I. DEFINITIONS.

ORTHOGRAPHY TREATS of the nature and properties of letters, and the correct spelling and writing of words.

2. THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE consists of forty-three Oral Elements, or Elementary Sounds.

3. ORAL ELEMENTS are the sounds that, uttered separately or in combination, form syllables and words.

4. ORAL ELEMENTS ARE PRODUCED by different positions of the organs of speech, in connection with the voice and the breath.

5. THE PRINCIPAL ORGANS OF SPEECH are the lips, the teeth, the tongue, and the palate.

6. VOICE IS PRODUCED by the action of the breath upon the larynx, or upper part of the wind-pipe.

7. ORAL ELEMENTS ARE DIVIDED into three classes: eighteen Tonics, fifteen Subtonics, and ten Atonics.

8. TONICS are pure tones produced by the voice, with but slight use of the organs of speech.

9. SUBTONICS are tones produced by the voice, modified by the organs of speech.

10. ATONICS are mere breathings, modified by the organs of speech.

11. LETTERS are characters that are used to represent or modify the Oral elements.

12. THE ENGLISH ALPHABET CONSISTS of twenty-six letters, viz.: a, b, c, d, e, f, g, h, i, j, k, l, m, n, o, p, q, r, s, t, u, v, w, x, y, z.

13. The Alphabet is divided into Vowels and Consonants.

14. Vowels are the letters that usually represent the tonic elements, and form syllables by themselves. They are a, e, i, o, u, and sometimes y.

15. A Diphthong is the union of two vowels in one syllable; as, ou in our.

16. A Digraph, or improper diphthong, is the union of two vowels in a syllable, one of which is silent; as, oa in loaf, ou in youth.

17. A Triphthong is the union of three vowels in one syllable; as, eau in beau, ieu in adieu.

18. Consonants are the letters that usually represent either subtonic or atonic elements. They are of two kinds, single letters and combined, including all the letters of the alphabet, except the vowels, and the combinations, ch, sh, wh, ng: th subtonic, and th atonic.

19. Labials are letters whose oral elements are chiefly formed by the lips. They are b, p, w, and wh. M may be regarded as a nasal labial, as its sound is affected by the nose. F and v are labia-dentals.

20. Dentals are letters whose oral elements are chiefly formed by the teeth. They are j, s, z, ch, and sh.

21. Linguals are letters whose oral elements are chiefly formed by the tongue. They are d, l, r, and t. N is a nasal lingual; y a lingua-palatal; and th a lingua-dental.

22. Palatals are letters whose oral elements are chiefly formed by the palate. They are g and k. NG is a nasal palatal.

23. Cognates are letters whose oral elements are produced by the same organs, in a similar manner; thus, f is a cognate of v; k of g, &c.

24. ALPHABETIC EQUIVALENTS are letters, or combinations of letters, that represent the same elements, or sounds; thus, i is an equivalent of e, in *p*i*que*.

II. PRINCIPLES OF PRONUNCIATION.

1. Vowels.

A USUALLY represents six Oral elements, or sounds; as in åle, ånd, årt, ått, bâre, åsk. The fifth element, or sound, represented by a, is its first or alphabetic sound, modified or softened by r. In its production, the lips, placed nearly together, are held immovable while the student tries to utter the first or alphabetic sound of a. The sixth element, represented by a, is a sound intermediate between a as heard in at, *a*sh, and a as in *a*rm, *a*rt. It is produced by prolonging and slightly softening a as heard in at.

E usually represents three elements; as in mè, ènd, êrr. The third element, represented by e, is e as heard in *e*nd, prolonged, and modified or softened by r.

I usually represents two elements; as in ïce, ïnch.

O usually represents three elements; as in ôld, ôn, dŏ.

U usually represents three elements; as in tûbe, tŭb, fûll. When u long, or its alphabetic equivalent ew, is preceded by r, or by the sound of sh, it has always the sound of o in do; as in r*u*de, s*u*re, br*ew*. At the beginning of words, when long, it has the sound of yu, as in *u*se.

Y, when used as a vowel, represents the same elements as I; as in t*y*pe (tïp), h*y*mn (hĭm).

OU usually represents one element; as in *ou*r. This element is also represented by ow; as in n*ow*.

OI and OY are equivalent to å, followed by ĭ; as in *oi*l (åĭl), boy (båĭ).

2. Consonants.

B REPRESENTS one element; as in bĭb. Before t, and after m, it is silent; as in de*b*t, thum*b*.

C has no element peculiar to itself. It represents the sound of k before the letters a, o, u, l, r, t, and at the end of a word, when, in this work, it is printed with a dot over it; as in ċane, ċot, ċure, ċlick, ċrank, districṫ, musiċ. Before e, i, and y, it represents the sound of s; as in *c*ent, *c*ider, *c*yst. In a few words it has the sound of z; as in suffi*c*e. When it comes after the accent, and is followed by ea, ia, eous, or ious, it is sounded like sh; as in ocean, social, cetaceous, tenacious. It is silent before k; as in ha*c*k, la*c*k.

D usually represents one element; as in did. At the end of a word it is sometimes sounded like t, as in mixe*d;* and in a few words is silent, as in se*dg*e, he*dg*e.

F represents one element, as in fife; except in of, when it is sounded like v.

G usually represents one element; as in gag. Before e, i, and y, it is usually sounded like j, and is marked thus, ġ; as in ġem, ġin, ġyve.

H represents one element; as in *h*ome. It is silent at the beginning of a number of words, and after g and r; as in *h*onor, g*h*ost, r*h*yme.

J represents one element; as in just.

K represents one element; as in kink. It is silent before n; as in *k*nee.

L represents one element; as in lilac. It is silent in many words; as ca*lf*, ha*lf*, ta*lk*.

M represents one element; as in maim.

N represents one element; as in no, on. It is sometimes sounded like ng, when, in this work, it is marked thus, ṅ; as in baṅk, thaṅk, aṅ'ger, fiṅ'ger. It is silent after l, or m, when it ends a syllable; as in kil*n*, hym*n*.

P represents one element; as in pipe. It is silent before n, s, and t, in the same syllable; as in *p*neumatic, *p*salm, promp*t*.

Q has no element peculiar to itself. With u, by which it is always followed, it commonly represents the sound of kw, as in *qu*aff, *qu*ilt, *qu*oth; but in many words derived from the French it has the sound of k; as in co*q*uet, eti*q*uet, &c.

R represents one element; as in rare, for. When it precedes a vowel, it may be trilled; as in *r*oll, *r*ound. It is never silent; but its oral element is sometimes transposed; as in acre (ā'kẽr).

S usually represents one element; as in *s*ave, ki*ss.* In many words it is sounded like z as heard in zinc, when, in this work, it is marked thus, ṡ; as in roṡe, riṡe. In a few instances it has the sound of z as heard in a*z*ure; as in plea*s*ure, o*s*ier. It sometimes represents the sound of sh; as in *s*ure, diver*s*ion.

T represents one element; as in tart, taste.

V represents one element; as in *v*alve, *v*ivid.

W represents one element; as in *w*ell, *w*ise.

X has no element peculiar to itself. It is equivalent to z, at the beginning of words; to ks, as in ta*x,* e*x*pect; to gz, when the next syllable following begins with an accented vowel, as in exalt, exert; and to ksh, in some words, when the accent immediately precedes it, as in anxious.

Y, when a consonant, represents one element; as in *y*et, *y*es.

Z represents two elements. The first may be heard in *z*est, *z*inc. The second, in this work, is marked thus, ʒ; as in azure.

TH represents two elements. When a Subtonic, in this work, it is marked ṯh; as in ṯhis, wiṯh. As an Atonic it is heard in *th*in, bre*th*.

CH usually represents one element; as in *ch*ange, mu*ch*. In words derived from the ancient languages, ch is generally sounded like k; as in a*ch*e, *ch*asm, s*ch*ool. It frequently represents the sound of sh, when, in this work, it is marked thus, ċh; as in ċhaise, ċhivalry, maċhine.

SH represents one element; as in *sh*ame, mar*sh*.

WH represents one element; as in *wh*at, *wh*en, *wh*ip. To produce this oral element, the student will blow from the center of the mouth, first compressing the lips, and then suddenly relaxing them while the air is escaping.

NG represents one element; as in ba*ng*, ga*ng*, you*ng*.

III ORAL ELEMENTS.

THE instructor will first require the students to pronounce a catch-word once, and then produce the oral element represented by the figured vowel, or italic consonant, four times—thus: åge,—à, à, à, à; åt,—å, å, å, å, &c. He will exercise the class perseveringly, until each student can utter consecutively all of the elementary sounds, as arranged in the following

Table of Oral Elements.

I. TONICS.

å, as in åge.	ė, as in hė.	ȯ, as in ȯn.
å, " åt.	ė, " ėnd.	ȯ, " dȯ.
å, " årt.	ė, " hėr.	u̇, " pu̇re.

å, " båre.	i̇, " i̇t.	u̇, " fu̇ll.
å, " åsk.	ȯ, " ȯld.	ou, " our.

II. SUBTONICS.

b, as in bib.	m, as in maim.	v, as in vine.
d, " did.	n, " nine.	w, " will.
g, " gag.	ng, " sing.	y, " you.
j, " jib.	r, " rare.	z, " zest.
l, " lo.	th, " this.	z, " azure.

III. ATONICS.

f, as in fife.	s, as in sense.	sh, as in shy.
h, " hill.	t, " tart.	wh, " why.
k, " kick.	th, " thin.
p, " pipe.	ch, " each.

IV. ALPHABETIC EQUIVALENTS.

THE instructor will require students to read or recite the table of Alphabetic Equivalents, using the following formula: The Alphabetic Equivalents of A first power (here the students will utter the oral element four times) are ai, au, ay, e, ea, ee, ei, ey; as in the words, g*ai*n, g*au*ge, str*ay*, m*e*l*ee*, gr*ea*t, v*ei*n, th*ey*.

1. Tonic Elements.

For ā, ai, au, ay, e, ea, ee, ei, ey; as in g*ai*n, g*au*ge, str*ay*, mel*ee*′, gr*ea*t, v*ei*n, th*ey*.

For å, ai, ua; as in pl*ai*d, g*ua*ranty.

For å, au, e, ea, ua; as in h*au*nt, s*e*rgeant, h*ea*rt, g*ua*rd.

For å, au, aw, eo, o, oa, ou; as in f*au*lt, h*aw*k, G*eo*rge, c*o*rk, br*oa*d, b*ou*ght.

For å, aa, ai, e, ea, ei; as in *A*aron, ch*ai*r, th*e*re, sw*ea*r, h*ei*r.

For ē, ea, ee, ei, eo, ey, i, ie; as in r*ea*d, d*ee*p, c*ei*l, p*eo*ple, k*ey*, val*i*se, f*ie*ld.

For ẹ̀, a, ai, ay, ea, ei, eo, ie, u, ue; as in *a*ny, s*ai*d, s*ay*s, h*ea*d, h*ei*fer, l*eo*pard, fr*ie*nd, b*u*ry, g*ue*ss.

For ẹ̈, ea, i, o, ou, u, ue, y: as in *ea*rth, g*i*rl, w*o*rd, sc*ou*rge, b*u*rn, g*ue*rdon, m*y*rrh.

For ị̀, ai, ei, eye, ie, oi, ui, uy, y, ye; as in *ai*sle, sl*ei*ght, eye, d*ie*, ch*oi*r, g*ui*de, b*uy*, m*y*, r*ye*.

For ị̈, ai, e, ee, ie, o, oi, u, ui, y; as in captain, pretty, b*ee*n, s*ie*ve, w*o*men, tort*oi*se, b*u*sy, b*ui*ld, hymn.

For ȯ, au, eau, eo, ew, oa, oe, oo, ou, ow; as in h*au*t-boy, b*eau*, y*eo*man, s*ew*, c*oa*l, f*oe*, d*oo*r, s*ou*l, bl*ow*.

For ȯ̈, a, ou, ow; as in wh*a*t, h*ou*gh, know*l*edge.

For o̊̈, ew, oe, oo, ou, u, ui; as in gr*ew*, sh*oe*, sp*oo*n, s*ou*p, r*u*de, fr*ui*t.

For u̇, eau, eu, ew, ieu, iew, ue, ui; as in b*eau*ty, f*eu*d, n*ew*, ad*ieu*, v*iew*, h*ue*, j*ui*ce.

For ů̇, o, oe, oo, ou; as in l*o*ve, d*oe*s, bl*oo*d, y*ou*ng.

For ů̈, o, oo, ou; as in w*o*lf, b*oo*k, c*ou*ld.

For ou, ow; as in n*ow*.

For oi (o̊̇ị̈), oy; as in b*oy*.

2. Subtonic and Atonic Elements.

For f, gh, ph; as in cou*gh*, nym*ph*.

For j, g; as in *g*em, *g*in.

For k, c, ch, gh, q; as in *c*ole, con*ch*, lou*gh*, eti*q*uette.

For s, c; as in *c*ell.

For t, d, th, phth; as in danced, *Th*ames, *phth*isic.

For v, f, ph; as in o*f*, Ste*ph*en.

For y, i; as in pin*i*on.

For z, c, s, x; as in suffi*c*e, ro*s*e, *x*ebec.

For z, g, s; as in rou*g*e, o*s*ier.

For ng, n; as in a*n*ger, ba*n*k.

For ch, t; as in fus*t*ian.

For sh, c, ch, s, ss, t; as in o*c*ean, *ch*aise, *s*ure, a*ss*ure, mar*t*ial.

V. ORAL ELEMENTS COMBINED.

STUDENTS will be required to read the following exercises, both separately and in concert, until they can utter the oral elements represented by the figured vowels in whatever order the instructor may require.

As the first oral element of each vowel is often indicated by a horizontal line placed over the letter, and the second by a curved line, we employ these marks in part in this exercise. As the fifth element, represented by a, and the third element of e, are always immediately followed by the oral element of r in the same syllables, the r is here introduced. Since the sixth sound of a, when not final, is always immediately followed by the oral element of f, n, or s, in the same syllable, these letters are here employed in the same manner.

bå,	bå,	åb,	åb,	dår,	dåf,	fē,	ēf,	fēr,
īd,	ĭd,	hō,	hŏ,	hō,	gū,	gū,	ŭg,	oug.

wār,	wăf,	nou,	yă,	yă,	yă,	shrŏ,	shrŭ,	shrou.

VI. WORDS.

A WORD is one or more Oral elements, or letters used to represent an idea.

2. WORDS ARE DIVIDED into primitive, derivative, simple, and compound.

3. A PRIMITIVE WORD is not derived, but constitutes a root from which other words are formed; as faith, ease.

4. A DERIVATIVE WORD is formed of a primitive and an affix or prefix; as faith*ful*, *dis*ease.

5. A SIMPLE WORD is one that can not be divided without destroying the sense; as an, the, book.

6. A COMPOUND WORD is formed by two or more words; as inkstand, book-binder, laughing-stock.

VII. SYLLABICATION.

A SYLLABLE is a word, or part of a word, uttered by a single impulse of the voice.

2. A MONOSYLLABLE is a word of one syllable; as, home, love.

3. A DISSYLLABLE is a word of two syllables; as, home-less, love-ly.

4. A TRISYLLABLE is a word of three syllables; as, un-love-ly, lov-ing-ly.

5. A POLYSYLLABLE is a word of four or more syllables; as, in-no-cen-cy, un-in-tel-li-gi-bil-i-ty.

6. THE ULTIMATE is the last syllable of a word; as ful, in peace-ful.

7. THE PENULT, or penultimate, is the last syllable but one of a word; as māk, in peace-mak-er.

8. THE ANTEPENULT, or antepenultimate, is the last syllable but two of a word; as ta, in spon-ta-ne-ous.

VIII. ACCENT.

ACCENT is the peculiar force given to one or more syllables of a word. In many trisyllables and polysyllables, of two syllables accented, one is uttered with greater force than the other. The more forcible accent is called primary, and the less forcible, secondary.

2. THE MARK OF ACUTE ACCENT [′] is usually employed to indicate primary accent; as, Read′ing.

3. THE MARK OF GRAVE ACCENT [‵] is often used to indicate secondary accent; as, Maid′-serv‵ant.

IX. ANALYSIS OF WORDS.

STUDENTS will acquire a perfect knowledge of the following analysis of words, both as spoken and written, as it should be employed daily.

ANALYSIS.—1st. The word ALE, in pronunciation, is formed by the union of two oral elements; à l—ale. [Here the pupil utters the two oral elements separately, and then pronounces the word.] The first is a pure tone; hence, it is a tonic. The second is a modified tone; hence, it is a subtonic. 2d. The word ALE, in writing, is represented by three letters; a l e. A represents a tonic; hence, it is a vowel. L represents a subtonic; hence, it is a consonant. Its oral element is chiefly formed by the tongue; hence, it is a lingual. E is silent.

ANALYSIS.—1st. The compound word FRUIT'-BUD is a dissyllable, accented on the penult. In pronunciation, it is formed by the union of seven oral elements; f r ô t'- b û d—fruit'-bud. The air is raw. Ten boys are on the ice. Six of the boys are far off. Ann and May Oak are on the ice, too.

See the big boy who has the odd fur cap. He may aim to get Ann by her arm, but he can not. She can vex him. He can run by all the boys; but he can not get by her.

It is fun and joy to be on the ice. One boy, in the cut, has a rod. May has one end of the rod. Why can not she go by him?

One lad hit his leg, his jaw, and his lip, on the ice. It was a sad job. He did rub rum on his jaw and on his lip.

The sun is now set. The big boy may get hay for our cow. The pig and the pet kid may eat, too.

If you are dry, Ann can get tea. You may eat an eel, a few eggs, and a pie. You may put the nuts in my new mug.

11. Bůll, fůll, půll, půsh, wolf, book, foot, good, hood, hook, look, rook, soot, took: loud, noun, thou: loin, join, oint, void.

Dictation Exercises.

1. She may bake a cake for the babe. For the sake of his dear name, oh, wake to fame! Do not jade or tire that lame ox. The game was near a cave. The sane man is safe. A haze came on the lake. The pink did fade on the same day. Save what you gain. He gave a vase, a rake, and a tame fox, to my son.

2. He hit the brad, or tack, with the back of my ax. He ate a bit of lamb, a clam, and a crab. The gang sang in the camp. That lank chap, or boy, swam on a slab. Vamp or mend my shoe. The air is dank, or damp. He may hang my sack on a peg. Darn my garb with yarn. He had more than half the alms. The lard is hard. The calf in the yard is near my drab hack.

3. If you walk on the lawn, do not halt to talk. His last dawn and morn are past. That fast ship is on the vast sea. We can make lath of her mast. That sort of lord will fawn. Can a hawk eat corn? He has salt in a horn.

4. Did each lad weep? He swam with ease in the deep sea. Feed the lamb with meal and beans. He gave that meek boy a mere bit of veal. The hawk can rend the beef with his beak. Did you reap that heap of weeds? The keel, or boat, is on the reef.

5. She lent her best belt. His knee hit the desk. Do not jest with the deaf lad; but help him. He left an egg in the nest. Ward West wept. Did the hen peck his head and his neck? Did the girl mend the rent in my vest? Do less for self. He wept for the dead. The term verb means a word. Do not jerk the pert lad. A worm is on the turf. If you urge him, he will work.

6. I saw five boys dive and rise. I am nigh nine wise men. The fife and the file are mine. Wipe that vile pipe. If it be a mild day, my wife will ride a mile.

7. The fish can swim in a dish. I wish to pick the mint. Miss Myth did kiss the babe on its chin. That rick of hay is the gift of a rich man. The slim lad is sick.

8. I saw a host of men vote. I have both pork and soap at home. The mole did doze in the soft loam. I saw foam on the rope when the colt was at the goal, or post. She can get coal, and a loaf, at the next door.

9. He lost the cost of his crop. Did Ann Bond lose her doll? Do not hoot at the fool, nor mock him; but let him plod or move on. I saw a frog on a rock, by the pool, or pond. My sock and my boot are on the moss in the nook. The crew will soon want food. The twig grew from the root of an ash. I saw the moon, from a room near the roof.

10. In June, the duke gave me a lute. If she stew the duck, it will suit me. If the mute lad fret and fume, and hit the mule with a club, I can not love him. Dull boy! why do you thus sit dumb? He had good luck near dusk, in his hunt; for he shot a buck, a gull, and a dove.

11. The bull did push and gore the wolf. He took the hood and put his foot on it. My book is full of cuts. Do not pull the hook; for I see soot on it. I will look at the rook, if I hear its loud cry. A noun is a name. Did he join the mob? Thou, O Lord, art good.

IV. Monosyllables of more than Four Letters.

MONOSYLLABLES—A IN AGE.

Her neck is wry, or turned to one side. If the choir sing, bring a quire of paper. Rime means white frost. The words rhyme. Is that rite of the church right? The wright can mend the wheel and write a note. You slight my sleight, or trick, of hand. His style is terse. Take time to climb the stile, or steps. I know where wild thyme (tim) grows.

13. A rat had been in the bin of grain. If they gild the book, the guild, or club, will pay for the gilt. If he did kill my son in the lime-kiln, his guilt must be known. I heard him sing a hymn in the inn. Limn or paint the limb of a tree. Did the lynx break the links of the chain? She missed her ring in the mist. I saw nits on the calf. Knit a sock. Wring out the cloth.

14. The bold man bowled well. Pin the cape with her brōoch. Broach the cask of ale. A boar bore the dog on his tusk. He bored a hole in a board. He put the boll of a plant into my bowl of milk. Bole is fine clay, not coarse. Trace the course of the stream. The beau shot with a bow. Has the pear a core? To drill the cōrps at the fort is his forte. Put on your coat and drive the sheep out of the cote. Will the doe eat dough? In the fore part of the day, I saw four men go forth for the fourth time. Do not gloze or please by praise. The coal glows. I have heard him groan since he has grown stout.

15. That horde, or tribe, will hoard corn. He hoes the corn with a hoe. Ho! he has a hole in his hose. That lone man knows that I want the whole loan. The ox lowed when I struck his nose. When a mote was in his eye, I heard him moan. I know a load of grass is mown; for I mowed it. Lo! the man lies low in the moat. The lode, or vein, of ore in the mine is rich. O, did you owe him? Oh, shame! he owed him for the ode. We went o'er the lake with one oar.

16. He struck my poll, or head, with a pole. He pores o'er a book. Pour out tea. He rowed the boat. She rode the mule in the road. The roe can swim. Row the boat. Learn by rote what he wrote. Smell the rose. The trees are in rows. The slow lad may eat a sloe. My shoe has a sole. His soul can not die. Sow the rye so; and then sew my coat. Birds soar. I felt a throe of pain, as I strove to throw the toad with my sore hand. The king's throne was thrown down. He towed the boat. Put tow on your sore toe. I told the tale. He tolled the bell. I toled the sheep with salt.

17. I did not throw a knot. I found a key and a lock near the loch, or lake. Does he bruise his hands when he brews beer? The bruit is that the brute was slain. The crews of the ships will cruise for a month. Does he whoop when you roll your hoop? The rude boy knows that a rood of land is one fourth of an acre. I have a stoup of wine on my stoop. She, too, may go to town with the two boys. He threw a stone through the pane. The wind blew the blue cloth. If it were once lost, I knew that Hugh could get no clue to my new ring. The pay for that clew, or ball of thread, is due. Dew is on the grass. Hew the wood that is of a dark hue. While you muse, the cat mews. Birds flew up the flue. They slew my son. Do not slue the sled round.

18. Buy all but the butt of wine. The dun has done the deed. Dost thou see the dust? None knew the nun. The wall is plumb. Get some plums for my son. Pay the full sum. The rough winds blew off her ruff. Would you go to the wood when the sun shines? She wrung her hands when I rung the bell. Scull the boat. His skull is thick. Give a ton of hay for a tun of wine. The fowl was on a bough. Bow to our friends an hour hence. Do not foul our well. On our route, we dug these roots.

Dictation Exercises.

1. That agèd baker is able to make famous bread. Sow an acre of land with acorns. That Danish bravo is an alien from an ancient town. The gracious lady made a cambric apron for our baby. Blazon or deck the robe with gold lace. A brasier is one who works in brass. The mȕte, ŭp, fûll.—ċ as k; ġ as j; ṅ as ng; ṡ as z; ċh as sh; ṫhis; azure.

baseness of that lazy gamester moved my hatred. The glazier will set a pane of glass in the casement. His fall from the apex of the gable caused his lameness. Latent means not seen. The wound was fatal, or deadly. Read this drama. The goods in the chamber are in a state of chaos.

2. My patron left some paper in the manger. The matron will make some pastry, if we vacate the table. That naked native was a sachem, or chief. The stately stranger stood by the spacious station for our ships, to see a naval pageant. Pathos means warmth, or that which moves our best feelings. Radix means root, or a word from which others are formed. Satan does not regard sacred things. A raven was taken near that shady spot. The trader sold a razor, a saber, a scraper, and a box of wafers. Her hair is wavy.

3. Champagne will inflame, abase, and deprave the sedate man. Replace and arrange the brocade. Inhale the vapor from the cascade. Erase the mark. Did the insane man use a chicane, or mean trick of art, to escape? You disgrace me, and estrange my friends. Do not derange nor misplace the things.

4. The plaintiff daily sent the bailiff to take the caitiff. The dainty gaiter was painful to the dairy-maid. Do not upbraid him if he pick a daisy on the prairie. I heard the plaintive moan of the traitor. Paint the wainscot. Retail raisins. Retain the raiment. Constrain him to refrain or abstain from the use of rum. Detail a fit man to appraise the champaign land. If he declaim, and maintain the right, he will prevail.

5. The drayman has a load of crayons. That playful, wayward girl will gayly sing. The layman left the payment with the mayor. Quell the affray. I will betray you, if you waylay the man. Convey the bouquet to my neighbor. Obey me. I will inveigh at that heinous crime, for a weighty cause. Birds purvey for the young in their eyry.

Dictation Exercises.

1. His absence from the barrack was caused by a battle. Alum is acrid. The arrow that hit his ankle came from an ambush. That agile athlete is an Arab. When near the acme, or top, of the hill, she lost her balance. Note the anger and adverse course of that arrant or very bad man. Sing a ballad. The aspect, or look, of the adder made me shake like an aspen. That agate has an azure hue. Buy a barrow, an axle, a blanket, and a barrel of brandy. Note the badness of this arid, barren land.

2. The captain ate a carrot, and some cabbage and catchup. That purse is made of chamois. The chaplain read a chapter in the chapel. The cattle famish. Pigs fatten. Hens cackle. Do callow birds carol? That fragile dagger can not damage the clapboard. He has camphor and claret in the cup. I do not fancy dandruff. Is he a classic, or writer of the first rank? Did that facile town yield its best franchise? That warm fabric is flannel.

3. Geese gabble. He threw the lasso, when his horse was on a gallop. If the wound gangrene, he will languish for days on that narrow hammock. Hallow or keep sacred that granite church. My grandsire, having a javelin and a halberd, made great havoc. The grandeur of the landscape caused gladness. Grammar treats of language. Can you manage his madness by magic? He has a handful of granules, or little grains. The lackey left a napkin, a jacket, a lantern, and a handcuff, on my mattress in the garret.

4. That ragged boy would rather paddle the boat than ride in the wagon. The savage panther broke the padlock. Do not pamper the child; for he had a radish, a sandwich, and some salmon and salad, on the salver. With a tragic air, and a shadow of sadness on his brow, he said, "Value time; for life is transient." With other rapine taken when the palace was ransacked, I saw a sapphire, or blue stone, of great value, a satin robe, gold spangles and tassels, a parrot, and a sparrow. She wrote a stanza on my tablet. His mind was placid, tranquil, or calm, when his plastic or forming hand drew the sketch. Do not shatter that statue near the stanchion, or small post.

5. Adapt the cravat to the boy's use, and attach it to his neck. Take the ratan and abash the cabal. Dispatch my finance, or rent, by mail. He forbade us to attack the giraffe.

DISSYLLABLES—A IN ART.

heark′*e*n, heart′les*s*, heart′y : gua no (gwå′no).

Dictation Exercises.

1. My father has an almond-tree in his garden. The artful archer left his armor in the arbor. I will hit the target, if I can get a cartridge for my carbine. If the farmer harvest the barley next week, bargain for it. Will papa′ and mamma′ pardon you, if you use sarcasm? Is that janty bird a partridge, or a martin? Will the marten kill hens? Have they marble in the Arctic zone?

2. Unbar the door, and leave it ajar. He cried aha! when he heard the guitar. His remark was in regard to a mirage. The alarm of fire, at the bazar, was heard afar. Enlarge the placard. The cigar burnt his mustache.

3. Hearken to the hearty laughter of that dauntless sergeant, as you saunter by. Buy some guano. I saw the laundress at the laundry.

re ṡort′,	re tort′,	sub orn′,	trans form′,	un born′.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Birds warble in the alder by the water. She almost always has allspice in her cake. Warfare will not make the warrior falter nor palter. The caldron has fallen. That swarthy man will remain in thraldom, or bondage; for the warden has a warrant. If a bear be athwart the path, he can not appall me. Award the reward.

2. An auction was held at Auburn, last August. Caution your daughter not to be haughty nor saucy; and not to use caustic words. The applause at the caucus was heard on the causeway. I saw a laurel, or bay-tree, near the hawthorn hedge. Who wants that tawdry bauble? His face is tawny or sunburnt.

3. As the corsair passed the northern corner of that gorgeous fortress with a cortege of forty men, an arrow pierced the border of his corselet. Will the dormant dormouse and tortoise be in a torpid state for a fortnight? Is a porpoise in its normal state when in the water? If he indorse that forged note, absorb the estate, and extort a loan from that forlorn girl, I will abhor my son. I will exhort him to conform to your rules. Remorse led him to reform.

DISSYLLABLES—A IN BARE.

1. Bâre′ly, ċâre′ful, chȧr′y, dȧr′ing, par′ent, par′ing, rare′ly, shar′ing, star′ing, ware′house: a ware′, be ware′, in snare′, pre pare′.

Alphabetic Equivalents of â.

2. Fair′ness, fair′y, gair′ish, hair′y:
par terre (par târ′), where′fȯre: for bear′.

Dictation Exercises.

1. I was barely sharing some pears with my friends. The parent was chary or careful not to prepare his son to be daring in crime. I was aware that he was staring at the warehouse. If you beware, he will rarely insnare you.

2. A wish for fairness led him to forbear. That hairy man said that he saw a fairy. Her dress was gairish or gaudy. Wherefore did he go into the parterre, or flower garden?

DISSYLLABLES—A IN ASK.

1. Aft′er, ȧn′swer, bȧsk′et, ċȧsk′et,

Dictation Exercises.

1. The austere or stern tetrarch will adhere to the king's edict. Even this decent being tells a legend of a demon. That soil is effete or barren. In a precinct of that region, they bought cerement to wind round the dead hero. Will that venal man veto a penal law? I will concede that you saw the reflux, or flowing back, of the tide. Read the series of tales. The sincere man will revere the laws of the supreme or greatest judge.

2. The sailor was not fearful when he saw a beacon. The weary seamstress has treacle in that greasy cup. The deacon saw a beaver, an eagle, a peacock, a weasel, and a yearling colt. Conceal the sleazy silk beneath the table. Do not maltreat the old man, but appease him. If the disease cause his decease, he will bequeath his wealth to a stranger.

3. The beetle is by the beehive. The feeble freeman feebly fought for freedom. That peerless girl is not peevish. Veneer the settee. Indeed, if we succeed and are discreet, we can buy some moreen, a canteen, and a fusee. I beseech you, if that grandee is your compeer, to name him for a trustee.

4. I believe that he will either deceive or aggrieve you. If you have leisure, I will show you a machine that is neither antique nor unique. The caprice of the people led to this grievous wrong. The police made a seizure of the valise, in a ravine, near the frontier. If the marine force besiege the fort, we will march to its relief, when our friends can make a sortie, and retrieve their loss.

Dictation Exercises.

1. My messmate made an effort to beckon to the man in the belfry. There was neither bedding nor bedsteads in that bedlam, or madhouse. Can the chemist cure the leper? The deluge may bear away the levee. My merry nephew read a fable of a centaur, or beast that was thought to be half horse and half man. Pay for the kettle, the fender, and the bellows. I saw an engine near the ferry. There was much merit in the fresco, or painting on the wall. Buy some lettuce, and a mellow melon. Read the memoir. A decade of years means ten. They never had method in the nether or lower room.

2. The prelate says that pellet, or little ball, is precious. The preface, or rather prelude, to the song was good. I relish plenty of pepper on my venison. She has a splendid velvet vesture, or dress. The seven men in that vessel must perish, if she find no shelter from the storm. The sheriff has a second schedule of the selvedge. The skeptic would not give a shekel to the starving shepherd. The sexton saw a reptile on the threshold of the temple. On Wednesday, twenty men were at the yellow house.

3. Did you abet the adept in his attempt to gain access to my room, when I was abed? Collect the assets, and accept the behest. I detest such burlesque, or fun. Be content to contend for the right, and to defend all that are in distress. Do you expect to be exempt from faults? Extend the time of my payment.

4. Do not forget to inspect the gazette, and read the farewell address. I intend to possess that grotesque or odd painting, unless I can select a better one. If she, by a finesse, or artful trick, impel him to revenge her wrongs, I can not respect her. The sun is an immense ball. If you relent, her success will end your suspense. His acts portend or foreshow that he will relent and repent.

mȕte, ŭp, fŭll.—ċ as k ; ġ as j ; ṅ as ng ; ṡ as z ; ċh as sh ; ṫhis ; asure.

5. Any cleanly child may have breakfast. Many zealous peasants have heavy weapons. Headache and deafness again mar my pleasure. The weather is pleasant. That jealous man speaks against friendship. I saw a treasure in the meadow. A leaden ball hit my neighbor. Do not jeopard your life, if the leopard seize the heifer. Is that zealot too zealous?

Dictation Exercises.

1. The clergy of that church preach fervent or earnest sermons. The fervid heat will kill the verdant herbage. That hermit is a person of sterling worth; and, therefore, it is certain he will not perjure himself. The merchant sent a verbal message by his servant. The nervous man stood on the vertex, or top, of the hill.

2. This alert and expert man can disperse the crowd. I aver that this perverse man did asperse and desert that superb lady. If he be averse to the deed, I will coërce him. I infer, from his concern, that he can not avert the evil.

3. At the age of thirty, the learned man gained the earldom. The earthquake broke the earthen-wares. The worthy virgin kept a journal on her journey. They voted to adjourn the meeting. Did thirteen girls courtesy?

4. The burly burglar, after the murder, bore his cursed burden a furlong. The curfew was rung at eight o'clock. The curlew flew to the burdock. Furnish a purple curtain for the further room. The clouds by the furnace are murky, or dark. If the purser return, I will disburse the funds on Thursday.

Dictation Exercises.

1. The idle crier has a bias for cider. The Bible tells us not to worship idols. When the crisis came, the ireful driver struck the horse with a bridle. Bipeds have two feet, and bivalves two shells. The icebergs in that cold climate are almost as hard as iron.

2. Liars, misers, and pirates, shall all likewise perish. A tiny spider has its web on a lilac. Though this drink has a vinous flavor, he can sell it without license. The dart pierced a vital part of the striped beast.

3. When you arrive, alight at the door. If you admire the place, I advise you to abide there awhile. The concise advice of my benign friend will delight you. I desire the priest to baptize the child. Can you divine or guess how he will decide the question?

4. Did that unwise man entice his son to imbibe or drink rum? If the esquire preside, he will oblige you to use precise language. Did that sublime speech excite no surprise? That unkind child must not get unripe fruit.

5. The lyrist will beguile your pain with his harp. A cycle is a round of years. Untie my shoe. Decry and defy the tyrant. In July, I will buy a supply of hyson tea.

Dictation Exercises.

1. After dinner, those bibbers will finish the wine. Do not bicker with the bidder, when bidding. Bitterns are bitter. A billow struck the frigate. The bishop is no bigot. The city gave a civic crown to the civil cripple. A cinder from the chimney did blister my finger. If the critic cause discord, drive him fifty miles from the district. The moon was gibbous on that frigid night.

2. The giddy gipsy gave ginger to the Indian. The lights glisten and glimmer. The instant an ingot of gold was found, it served as an impulse for an influx of strangers. My kinsman has a hiccough. Listen to the linnet for a livelong day.

3. At midnight, I saw the pilgrim standing in the middle of the river. The miller says mildew has injured the millet. Prithee, minstrel, sing for the millions. The prison is for those that pilfer. She tied her ringlets with a ribbon. The pillow lies near the pillar. This mixture will cure phthisic and quinsy.

4. My sister has a pair of scissors, and a silver thimble. The skillful swimmer has strong sinews. Sinners should read the Scriptures. Spikenard and spinach grow in the garden. The timid rider has a skittish horse. Take sirup with that tincture, for your illness.

5. Thorns and thistles grow in that vineyard. The tinder took fire in a twinkle. The vicar of the village will visit that willful villain. The winged things twitter. That witty man has but little wisdom. The widow is not a vixen, or scold. The Tribune had to pay the tribute. A whistle, a whipstock, and a visor were found by the window.

6. I predict, if you convince the judge, he will acquit the man. Abridge his rights. I insist, if you begin, that you do not desist until they submit. Rescind that prolix law. Omit the quadrille. There will be an eclipse of the sun within a month.

7. Those pretty breeches were made by women, in England. The busy cynic wrote a lyric, and a system of syntax. The synods meet in the Crystal Palace. The gymnast will pay a guinea for a syringe, and some hyssop, strychnine, and gypsum.

Dictation Exercises.

1. The apricots at the agency are salable. Though the atheist is capable, owing to his knavery, and the flagrancy of his various crimes, he can not secure the vacancy. The chamberlain will tell the laity the area of the room. Is papacy at variance with paganism? The patriot's bravery made him a favorite. The maniac cut the drapery with a rapier. That patriarch in the phaëton is placable, or willing to forgive.

2. Note the abraison of the goods. The bravado's dictation and audacious behavior awaken contempt. The canary-bird has a capacious cage. During the engagement, the courageous youth stood by the embrasure. If the disease is contagious, do not resort to evasion. The donation will enable the pastor to give a collation to the poor.

3. On that occasion, the loquacious man gave fallacious reasons for the formation of an army. The frustration of those plans caused his outrageous oration. An invasion caused their migration hither.

4. That rapacious beast is voracious, or very hungry. The sagacious testator knew that the relation of those remarks verbatim, or word for word, would cause a sensation among the spectators. The vagaries of that vivacious youth were vexatious. Taxation caused the stagnation of business. The cavalcade will ambuscade for the foe. As you promenade, serenade our friends.

5. An acquaintance of that traitorous aid-de-camp has my bayonet. The conveyer brought a conveyance of the remainder of the estate. Ascertain the amount payable. The surveyor ate a tomato and a potato. Her attainments enable her to entertain our friends.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Having absolute power, the king will not abdicate; but he will abrogate the treaty. The admiral will gain affluence, and aggrandize himself. An accident caused his abstinence from solid aliment. The affable advocate made an accurate statement of the actual aggregate received. The alkali used by the alchemist was potash. Alcohol will agitate, aggravate, and cause agony. Use the alphabet in algebra.

2. My ancestor saw an antelope, with other animals, near the Amazon river. He gave an amethyst for the ambergris found at the anchorage. He took an antidote and an anodyne. An amnesty may prevent anarchy. Attack the ambuscade in the avenue. The anchoret was noted for his apathy and avarice. Give an Arabic book for the andirons. Name the average price of that arable land.

3. That bacchanal on the balcony is a bachelor. The barrister will castigate or punish his son for blasphemy. A casual remark led us to catechise the candidate. I saw calico, cassimere, a canister of calomel, and a carabine, in the cabinet. The cavalry fought near a cataract.

4. Chamomile is bitter, and cranberry sour. The graduate says the faculty are versed in classical lore. Clarify the fluid. Did chanticleer blow his clarion? The garrison, for their gallantry, deserve the gratitude of the people. The character of the champion for chastity and gravity will gratify his parents.

5. The matricide, or murderer of his mother, knew no halcyon or peaceful days. Put some lavender on the handkerchief. She read the manuscript of the manual in a masculine tone. They will lacerate your flesh with manacles, in that maritime town. The mariner knows the maximum or highest price of mackerel.

6. Before reading my paraphrase, you would think the paradox in my narrative a palpable error. Paradise is described in a parable. It is natural for passengers to patronize the national vessels that navigate the river. In the pantomime, quackery was exposed. Platinum is the heaviest of all metals.

7. Raillery will neither tranquillize the taciturn vagabond's mind, nor please his vanity. Ramify the treaty, or divide it into parts. His views were rational. The raspberry has sanative and saccharine qualities. "The Lord of Sabaoth," or of armies, is with us.

8. What attraction led him to abandon his companion? His abstraction, or absence of mind, and his dogmatic answers embarrass me. The assassin joined the battalion and crossed the Atlantic. That ecstatic poem is both didactic and dramatic. Detraction from that fanatic can not injure my financial prospects.

9. The mechanic made a galvanic engine. A gigantic mulatto taught gymnastic games on the piazza. The Italian ate a pomegranate. People who inhabit that volcanic region lead a monastic life. Impanel a jury, if that rascalion cause the infraction of the law. A river meanders through the romantic savanna.

Dictation Exercises.

If the arbiter arbitrate, he will hear your argument. The architect has an archetype of the architrave. During the armistice, they will prepare the ship's armament. The carpenter is the artisan that performed that arduous task. The charlatan practiced pharmacy. The artifice of the cardinal during carnival was chargeable to parliament. You have marmalade, or some other sweetmeat on your mustaches. My guardian sent some bananas and artichokes.

Dictation Exercises.

1. The talkative alderman asked his subaltern to get the almanac. The receipt of the first installment proves the falsity of your statement.

2. The sound was audible to the audience. The story of the augury appeared plausible. The incautious marauder lost his tarpaulin. Under the auspices of the autocrat, he advanced nautical science. The corpulent corporal did gormandize like a cormorant. The fortunate sorcerer endured that ordeal. The recorder says porcelain ornaments are subject to forfeiture. The course of that enormous scorpion was tortuous, or winding. A porcupine is in the reservoir

Dictation Exercises.

1. Decency forbids too much vehemence. That egotist was recently tedious in explaining his theory. It was our previous aim to be lenient with the menial; but, recently, the frequency of his crimes has caused serious doubts. Do not deify a thing formed by Deity. The regency, having plenary or full power, pardon all venial sins.

2. The secretion is acetous or sour. Wax is adhesive. Were the museum and the lyceum coëval with the pantheon? The facetious lad told an egregious falsehood. That subpœna is illegal. Primeval refers to the first ages. The ingenious plebeian built the cathedral. If you do not interfere, he may get his quietus, or final discharge. If my clerk contravene my measures, you may supersede him.

3. The fricassee is eatable. The peaceable coterie, or club, declare the measure feasible. The financier will pay the patentee. Buy a magazine, a gazetteer, and a tambourine. The pioneer is a nominee for office. Did the overseer domineer over the refugee? Musquitos troubled the volunteer. That chevalier is an imbecile. The mandarin on board that privateer has a dress made of bombazine. The brigadier was armed cap-a-pie.

Dictation Exercises.

1. If you use that beverage, beggary will be your destiny. The derelict or abandoned child was left destitute. Though credulous, he has no deference for the decalogue, or ten commandments. The delicate dentifrice had a chemical effect. Though there is a clerical error, the writing is credible. That desperate demagogue is a denizen. Within a century, much has been learnt with regard to dentistry and chemistry. Though destitute of clemency, he deprecates despotism.

2. He is in ecstasy with that elegant ebony cane. The epicure found an excellent esculent, or edible. The emperor wishes to educate and elevate the masses. That eminent man wrote an epitaph, an elegy, and an epilogue, at one sitting. Emphasis is one element of eloquence. Do not execrate your enemy, nor burn him in effigy. The embassy understands etiquette. The excellence of that exquisite equipage is evident to every one. Energy enabled him to extricate himself from that exigence, and to execute the enterprise.

mûte, ûp, fûll.—ċ as k ; ġ as j ; ṅ as ng ; ṡ as z ; ċh as sh ; ṫhis ; azure.

3. Federal courts punish felony. Feminine tact produced much merriment at the festival. The lexicon has medical terms. The melody removed his lethargy. The heroine was a genuine native of the Western hemisphere. The general is noted for his heroism and lenity. If the heretic hesitate to renounce the heresy, he will lose his heritage.

4. We have a plenteous or plentiful supply of nectarines. He takes a negative way of showing his preference. His negligence caused our penury. The pedagogue was noted for his pedantry. He will not suffer the penalty during the pendency of the suit. Petulance is not a mark of penitence. The querulous pensioner has a perpetual income. He read the Pentateuch, or the first five books of the Bible. In the plenitude of his mercy, God stayed the pestilence. The prevalence of virtue removed his prejudice.

5. My recipe and regimen will renovate her system. No one will recognize that recreant renegade in our regiment. My retinue say that our relative's residence is redolent of flowers. If, on taking a retrospect, I deem it requisite, I will keep a register for the residue of the term. Reverence the reverend gentleman, though his revenue is small. During the revelry, he was in a reverie.

6. I saw sediment, or dregs, in several cups. The sedulous senator was not sensible of the terrible spectacle. The splenetic or peevish veteran wants a separate room. I saw a skeleton in the sepulcher. The spelling-book, the telegraph, and the telescope are useful. Temperance has a tendency to promote temporal good. The statement in yesterday's telegram is not tenable.

7. The athletic apprentice did the work to the acceptance of the convention. Her coquetry caused much contention. The correction is authentic. In that aggressive adventure, he made an accession to his wealth. That appendix is a useless appendage. The appellant gained the attention of the assembly, and secured that concession. I conjecture they had a clandestine meeting last bissextile. A fair complexion needs no cosmetics.

8. The deceptive domestic knew his debenture was worthless. The election of that eccentric man caused the defection of our party. His attempt to dissemble or conceal the truth caused his detention for eleven hours. His distemper and depression placed us in a sad dilemma. The declension of business in December, caused him to embezzle the money received from the exchequer. Embellish the book with expensive cuts.

9. Before the inspection, I had an impression that the indenture was worthless. What incentive secured his incessant efforts during that inclement weather? I shall inherit the estate, if it be intestate. The intrepid lieutenant took possession of the fort. On that momentous occasion, the majestic polemic made a pathetic speech for the prevention of oppression.

10. His retentive memory and transcendent judgment insure his progression in that profession. The measures are prospective and prudential. In September, I paid for an umbrella, some satinet, a pair of suspenders, and several utensils for the farm. The rebellion is in a state of quiescence. His resemblance to the general insures his selection. A succession of resplendent exploits caused the surrender of the fort, a suspension of the war, and the subjection of the people. The ruins of those stupendous works aré tremendous. Circumvent them, if they attempt to intercept my letters. I found this mignonette in that picturesque region.

11. Endeavor to practice cleanliness. He pronounced her nonpareil, or without an equal. While the treasurer was at the burial, his treacherous friend attempted to rob the treasury.

1. Know for a certainty, that we punish both perjury and perfidy. I certify you of his permanence in that mercantile house. Percolate or filter the fluid. Fertilize the soil before the seeds germinate. He will pay for the merchandise with the perquisites of his office. After the clergyman made a few pertinent remarks, he prayed with fervency for all that are in servitude. That serpentine wood is not pervious to an army. Your labor will terminate at the terminus of this road. In his verdancy, he will let that termagant persecute his friends.

5. His aversion to coërcion will cause him to report adversely. His advertence, or heedfulness, prevented desertions. His infernal assertions and aspersions caused the dispersion of my friends. My conversion and immersion were caused by his fraternal love. Is the wound internal or external? His perversion of the laws of health will enervate his body. That emergence will disconcert him. The observant man interspersed his remarks with anecdotes.

3. Get a circular at the rehearsal. The circumspect attorney used much urgency when speaking of that turbulent man's turpitude. My courteous brother will buy new furniture for the nursery. On their nocturnal excursion, they will extirpate that suburban sect. The insurgents must reimburse the expenses of the war. Treat all men with courtesy.

1. My diäry is at the bindery. I saw a binary or double star. He obtained the diädem by bribery and violence. The diälogue was in a strange diälect. My diämond ring is in the library. A nightingale disturbed the quietude of my privacy. Earn your livelihood with the microscope. I found a viölet near the viäduct.

2. He was affianced while abiding at our house. Orion appears above the horizon. That impolite inquiry does not entitle him to a decisive answer. Environ the enemy, and make a reprisal. After the subsidence of the excitement, the alliance was formed in compliance with their wishes. By his connivance, they procured the consignment of the goods without proviso. This disciple, or learner, can supervise that work. The revival of business induced him to advertise.

3. Under the dynasty of that good prince, the poor had an asylum. The hyacinth is in bloom. Hydrogen is the lightest known substance.

Dictation Exercises.

1. In the civilized world, biblical knowledge has not removed bigotry. Bigamy is made criminal in all Christendom. That chivalrous citizen speaks of the days of chivalry. With that dissolute crew, he can not secure discipline in the brigantine. If that finical disputant criticise the history, see that his criticism be just. That criminal is noted for his ignorance and his impudence. If that hideous idiot seize the hickory cane, the cimeter, or any sharp implement, you will be in imminent danger.

2. What incident caused his indigence? The increment of his garden indicates a rich soil. He will insulate, isolate, or remove from others, that infamous woman, so that his innocent children may receive no injury from their intercourse with her in their infancy. Indolence and insolence often lead to infamy. Iterate the remark. It will be for your interest, in the interim, or interval, to institute no suit; for that liberal man will liquidate the debt and liberate the debtor. Liberty is the ligament that binds the States together.

3. At Michaelmas, she will put a mistletoe bough near the miniature. The liturgy was prepared for the church militant. In the primitive church miracles were witnessed. The fact that you used ridicule, ribaldry, and sinister arts, will militate against your cause. The mimicry and piteous cry of that mischievous miscreant frightened the timorous milliner. The signatures are similar. The piquancy of his remarks produced a risible or laughable scene. His vigilance in the wilderness enabled us to gain the victory.

4. The benignant committee favored the acquittal of the delinquent. In his affliction, consider his condition, and contribute to his relief. On that auspicious occasion, ambition induced the capricious civilian to secure a commission in the army. His dismission and conviction neither exposed him to derision, nor diminished our esteem. If they confiscate the rebel's estate, they will decree a division of his dominions.

5. In the last edition of his book, he says the ecliptic is only the apparent path of the sun. If you enkindle a rebellion, he can extinguish it with these equipments. They are too familiar to be litigious or malignant. The munitions and nutritious food are on the flotilla. The fruition of illicit or forbidden things is brief. The magician puzzled the logician. The decision was both judicial and judicious. Though that optician is officious and flagitious, I value his opinion.

6. The religious patrician favors pacific measures. I had permission to present the pernicious petition at the pavilion, though it places the physician in a false position. Owing to that restriction, he can not manumit his slaves. The postillion has a violin. A restrictive provision, if stated with precision, to prohibit the sale of rum in the provincial towns, would further the cause of religion. Submission is not sufficient at that punctilious court. Tradition does not warrant that vindictive and terrific measure.

7. The column was not a cylinder, but a pyramid. How bodies crystallize is a mystery. He is a hypocrite and a sycophant. Observe the symmetry of the sycamore. That symphony awakens sympathy. Though the laws are tyrannous, the king will not favor tyranny. Syncope is the omission of one or more letters or a syllable from the middle of a word.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Chloroform, opium, or some other opiate, caused his comatose or drowsy condition. After copious showers, the evening was glorious. In the poësy, or poëtry, of the Orient, much is said of foliage. That stoical man's argument was noted for its cogency, or force. That forgery made him odious. The jovial crew found an oäsis in the desert.

2. During the commotion, that atrocious or very cruel wretch wounded his heroic opponent in the abdomen. Ambrosia was said to be the food of the gods. After their enrollment, a large proportion of the ferocious soldiers were killed by an explosion. The deportment of the deponent at his devotions was decorous. If they interpose, and attempt to incommode us, you will hear his sonorous voice above all others.

3. Accept the bestowment. That encroachment was unforeknown.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Did the choleric combatant do you bodily harm? The columbine is described in botany. Will chocolate cure the cholera? The chorister wrote a comedy, and a comical colloquy. Has the commodore cognizance of maritime causes? Complaisance is contrary to his nature. Comity between persons who congregate here is congruous to the place. Are copperas and crockery contraband goods? The death at the consulate left the consulship vacant.

2. His modesty led him to pronounce the horrible beast docible. This document is a doctrinal homily that will remove your dogmatism. There is a frontispiece in my glossary. The moccasin by the hollyhock is not a novelty. That horologe, or clock, was a donative, or gift, to my father. That monitor who speaks in a monotone understands logarithms.

3. That obstinate officer's obdurate heart led him to destroy a populous city. After performing the last obsequies, obligate the man to erect an obelisk over the grave. An omelet is in my porringer. The occupant of the house opposite is noted for his opulence. The Bible is a polyglot, or a book in many languages. A polygon is a figure of many sides. A polypus is something that has many feet. His silence with regard to the opera is ominous. I had ocular proof that the labor at the pottery is onerous. It will be politic to engage a popular orator.

4. Is it probable that the progeny of that prodigal will be profligate? When the Protestant became a proselyte, he aimed to propagate the sophistry. That provident young man secured his prominence by probity, and promptitude in business. Did the prophetess prophesy that the prophecy would prove false? If the voluble sophomore understood syntax and prosody, he would not use a solecism. He solemnly declares he will solemnize the marriage, that he may maintain his solvency.

5. I admonish you to abolish that despotic law, lest you incur the abhorrence of the people. The impostor demolished the colossal statue. If she acknowledge the receipt of that impromptu acrostic, she will astonish me. If the apostle demonstrate the truths of the gospel to the apostate, he will accomplish a good work. The sirocco injured the sclerotic of his eyes. The respondent made a laconic speech in favor of his remonstrance. After taking the narcotic, I was unconscious.

6. I saw a large quantity of halibut on the quarantine grounds. Quadruple your offer for the quadruped. A quadrangle is a figure having four equal angles. Qualify your statement, unless you wish to leave the lad in a quandary.

Dictation Exercises.

1. After the removal of his movable property, he was improving the soil.

2. The obtrusion of his foolery upon the company caused us to regret his intrusion. The protrusion, or push, exposed him to the scrutiny of the scrupulous general. The lady with the rubicund hair is noted for her prudery. My crucifix was thrown into the crucible.

Dictation Exercises.

1. I saw a cucumber at the curacy. The juvenile fugitive is in the cupola. The writings of that duteous and studious child, though numerous, are puerile. My success is dubious. That furious lunatic severed his jugular vein. I kept a duplicate of that spurious note That puissant or powerful prince will quell the mutiny. The want of nutriment caused his lunacy. Rum will stupefy and cause suicide. That luminous argument is in unison with my views. Their usual usury renders the business lucrative.

2. Frequent ablutions are conducive to health. My refusal to sanction the collusion produced confusion. His allusion to the abusive language was a conclusive proof that he recognized your peculiar style of writing. That seclusion tried his endurance. Importune him to give a solution of the question. The tribunal met pursuant to adjournment. My visit was opportune, or well-timed.

Dictation Exercises.

1. He shot a buffalo with his blunderbuss. I saw butternuts in the buttery. Take that culpable man into custody. Is it drudgery to scour the cutlery? Humming-birds and humble-bees were on the mulberry. Pupils at the nunnery are punctual. Did the hurricane justify his fear? The publican furnished a multitude of guests with succotash and muskmelons. If the supplement to the will be obtained by subterfuge, the surrogate will nullify it. When the supplicant assumed a suppliant posture and supplicated aid, his utterance was weak.

2. Autumnal abundance accustomed the people to excessive consumption. At that conjunction, the construction placed upon the compulsive measure caused a convulsion. With consummate skill, he removed the encumbrance and prevented an eruption. With your concurrence, we will hold the impulsive man and prevent a concussion. The conundrum caused discussion. After the destruction of the city, the moon shone forth with its usual effulgence. Exculpate the man and prevent his expulsion, for his escutcheon is without blot.

3. It is incumbent on indulgent parents to inculcate good precepts and to furnish good instruction. His reluctance to inculpate or blame the unlucky, repulsive child, was caused by a strange occurrence. If you remove the obstruction, the river will inundate that productive land and destroy the productions. The refulgent rays of the morning sun played upon the rotunda. If you try to reconstruct the order of the march, you will interrupt the whole triumphal procession.

4. The constable seized a colander, a coverlet, and a pair of compasses. If the conjurer have nourishment, he will recover from his disease. That covetous company will not respect the covenant. The sovereign is at the head of the government.

Dictation Exercises.

1. This river is the boundary of that mountainous country. God is the bounteous or bountiful Author of our being. Her countenance was cheerful at the espousals. I had a rencounter with the mountebank, at the foundery. If you send a countermand to your men, and order them to counterfeit a flight before they encounter the enemy, your counterplot will succeed. At the carousal, the officer forgot the countersign. Study acoustics, or the science of sounds.

2. If they empower you to name the endowment for the school, remember my avowal, and, in accordance with my wishes, make due allowance.

Dictation Exercises.

1. The amiable librarian and the grammarian are at the gymnasium. Variegate the cloth with red and blue. That extraneous matter is calcareous, or like lime. If the barbarian subsist only on spontaneous productions, his living will be precarious. Sheep are gregarious. The earth is called terraqueous, because it is composed of land and water. Malaria, or bad air, caused that cutaneous disease. Will the sectarian ingratiate himself with the people?

2. Having gained the admiration of the people, he was elected by acclamation. The ignoramus thought adulation, or excessive praise, would be advantageous. Both the allegation and the affidavit are false. Use this apparatus in the demonstration of that problem. He secured his information by close application. He gave an intimation of the adaptation, or fitness, of the illustration. Her education will surpass your expectation. The devastation was caused by a conflagration.

3. The ultimatum, or final terms, caused lamentation. His restoration to that office was secured by the mediation of the literati, or learned men. Their molestation caused our separation. Recreätion, and relaxation of study, will promote his reformation. That provocation caused the uprising of the people.

4. The abecedarian needs a good disciplinarian. That valetudinarian, or infirm man, has a fine pronunciation. Extemporaneous remarks test one's enunciation, or articulation.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Accuracy does not excuse acrimony, or harshness. If it be practicable, make an amicable arrangement with that charitable aristocrat. The antiquary has a valuable alabaster vase. After matrimony, she will enjoy the patrimony, or estate derived from her ancestors. The gladiator, or prize-fighter, had an attack of apoplexy. That amatory poem is an allegory. It is a lamentable fact, that such pleasures are transitory. In January, I saw the mantua-maker at the sanctuary. The tabernacle is now habitable.

2. Anatomy is taught at the academy. Give the analysis of that elaborate sentence. There is an analogy between plants and animals. My antagonist's audacity and brutality caused this catastrophe. His want of capacity led to this calamity. Acid will coagulate or thicken milk. The comparison is not compatible with justice. Congratulate the embassador; for his extravagance did not cause him to contaminate or tarnish his fingers with bribes. Evacuate the fort. Do not exaggerate his faults. Emancipate the serf.

3. The thought of his fatality, or tendency to danger, checked our hilarity. Though his loquacity was miraculous, or very wonderful, he used grammatical language. Humanity sometimes led him to disregard frugality. Misanthropy, or hatred of mankind, led him to infatuate the youth and cause him to act in that irrational manner. Flax is inflammable. Will that irascible woman question the legality of the marriage, or try to invalidate it? That refractory servant is noted for his rascality and vulgarity. If you procrastinate, prevaricate, and retaliate, I shall question your philanthropy. They speak of the veracity and urbanity of that magnanimous prince.

4. After his explanatory remarks, he secured a unanimous vote. Learn that vocabulary, or list of words, for a preparatory exercise.

5. When my benefactor had the Asiatic cholera, he used allopathic and hydropathic remedies. The malefactor stole coriander seed. Keep a memorandum of the goods you manufacture. That badge is emblematic of the diplomatic corps. Mathematics should be studied in a systematic manner.

6. The sales of my biographical and geographical works are satisfactory. Though he violated the rules of hospitality, he was received with cordiality. His sensuality has made him pusillanimous. The indefatigable ecclesiastic found typographical errors in that topographical work.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Since the collegian is amenable to the collegiate laws, he may deem it expedient to abbreviate his essay. The abstemious son will alleviate the cares of that inebriate's wife. Anterior to that event, my limited experience had led me to take the exterior as a criterion of character. These ingredients were prepared from materials found in the interior of the country. He secured the obedience of that obsequious inferior in a mysterious way. That tragedian has few superiors. The comedian sang a hymeneal, or marriage song, at the Atheneum. After singing a funereal hymn, they erected a mausoleum. The European found a description of spermaceti in the Encyclopedia. That heterogeneous mixture was called a panacea, or remedy for all diseases.

Dictation Exercises.

1. The ceremony at the cemetery was creditable to those estimable and exemplary citizens. Epilepsy caused his melancholy. In a desultory conversation, that despicable emissary denied the efficacy of prayer. The legislator says his friend, though eligible to office, and sustaining an enviable character, is restrained by his delicacy. His excellency the Governor wrote his memorable letter to the legislature in February. Is it necessary that the teacher of the seminary be peremptory? That venerable man was elected to the presidency. If the decree be revocable, secure his testimony. The predatory party aim to destroy all vegetables in the territory.

2. The celebrity you acquired from the celerity of your movements will accelerate the march of your competitor. While making experiments in that delectable garden, his expenditures were great. Benef- -nt, means doing good; benevolent, merely having a desire to do good. What is that biennial fast of two days designed to commemorate? His intelligence enabled him to select the identical site that is noted for its amenity, or pleasantness. Even in his decrepitude, his fidelity as a minister and his integrity in business exemplify the value of his precepts. That ingenuous man will investigate the inveterate drinker's affairs. Interrogate the artist with regard to the equestrian statue of the executive. If he deliver that impetuous speech extempore, he will electrify the crowd. Effectual means were taken to secure the electoral vote for that effeminate candidate. Longing for the ineffable or unspeakable joys of heaven, he finds nothing in this life commensurate with his desires.

3. The progenitor of that family and his posterity were noted for their longevity. The obscenity and malevolence of that incendiary led to his detection. Millennium means a thousand years. If the obstreperous pedestrian have the temerity to disturb our triennial solemnities, he will necessitate us to resort to severity. To his susceptible and regenerate heart, the beauties of nature are a source of perennial or perpetual cheerfulness and serenity. His hereditary pride, and the inveteracy of his hate, caused him to disregard the supremacy of the law. Death ends terrestrial scenes. A cotemporary says his loss was irreparable.

4. My predecessor spoke of the conscientious youth's acquiescence in the academic rules. Could he utter the elemental, elementary, or alphabetic sounds, in his adolescence, or youth? Her complimental phrases indicate a predilection for that energetic man. I was apprehensive that he would not so soon be convalescent, after suffering from an epileptic attack, an apoplectic fit, and an influenza, or epidemic catarrh. Glory is evanescent. A belief in the resurrection of the dead is one of the fundamental or essential doctrines of the Christian church. He encouraged regimental display, and sanctioned retrospective laws. Christ is our Intercessor with the omnipresent Jehovah.

1. Having no other alternative in his adversity, he depended on mercenary troops. Owing to the proverbial impertinence of the fraternity who were conterminous to his estate, the prince wished to exterminate them, and seize their convertible property. 1. An act to prevent ebriety and to promote sobriety is advisable. There is no assignable reason for his anxiety concerning that advisory letter. No human power can annihilate matter. The proprietor of the hotel bought a kaleidoscope. Is that air respirable? That reliable man observes the rules of propriety. Our society avoid satiety. There is a contrariety of opinions with regard to the notoriety of that crime.

Dictation Exercises.

1. There are many figurative expressions in that interesting miscellany. That literary dignitary has great difficulty in conquering his dilatory habits. That intimacy with vice leads to ignominy is not disputable. Notice the lineaments of that irritable man's face. That miserable man is in a pitiable condition. The military chief encouraged literature. The province was tributary to Rome.

2. Though the consistory commiserate the prisoner's sad condition, they pronounce his ambiguous certificate not admissible. His benignity, civility, and ability, render the chief conspicuous among the belligerents. Note the affinity of those articulate sounds. Observe his agility, or activity. Range your artillery on that gentle acclivity, and summon the city to capitulate. Crocodiles are amphibious and carnivorous animals. The centrifugal and centripetal forces are called central forces. Convivial habits increase his avidity, or greediness. The cupidity of the prince, which was tempted by property contiguous to his estate, led him to become a conspicuous member of the conspiracy.

3. Though the imprisonment increase his debility and habituate him to indignities, the municipal officers will find him invincible. If you deliberate, and learn to discriminate, you can form many derivative words. The delirious youth ran down the declivity. If fever produce delirium, I will excuse his delinquency. Did that itinerant equivocate, or use duplicity? A lady at the festivity was fastidious, or over-nice. He has such facility in the use of the pen, that he can make a facsimile, or exact copy, of that epitome. To gesticulate in the street is not a mark of gentility. During the incipient stage of hostility, the insidious or deceitful king tried to insinuate himself into the good graces of the nobility. Those indigenous or native plants have medicinal properties. Her mellifluous or sweetly-flowing voice, and her humility, disarmed their malignity. My munificent patron has a magnificent palace.

4. He who originates worlds must be omnipotent. That perfidious political act proves his moral obliquity. The prolixity of his remarks renders them less perspicuous. He ran down the precipitous cliff with great rapidity. His rusticity and simplicity placed him in a ridiculous predicament. The ventriloquist's vociferous argument was sophistical.

5–6. After the benediction was pronounced, he distributed the odoriferous flowers. The unseen heating rays of the sun are called calorific rays. During intermission, he said the tales we heard at the exhibition involved contradiction. His malediction, or evil speaking, and his hypocritic acts disturbed my equanimity. That superficial man can not give a correct definition of electricity. The generalissimo, or chief commander, will punish pusillanimity, or cowardice. Will sarsaparilla cure erysipelas?

7. Dysentery is a painful disease. Spell a monosyllable, a dissyllable, and a trisyllable. The science of mind is called metaphysics. A panegyric is a speech in praise of some distinguished person, action, or virtue.

1. Were those colloquial remarks appropriate? The music of that oratorio is euphonious. That editorial eulogium, or encomium, was not written by a censorious critic. That historian understands diplomacy.

The virtuous took a restorative for his hoarseness. That victorious troop is not controllable. I have a commodious house in that emporium. That felonious act cast opprobrium upon his name. That harmonious family have melodious voices. The parsimonious man wrote a testimonial for his meritorious servant.

Dictation Exercises.

1. That commentary explains the difficult passages in the apocrypha. The hospitable commissary can accommodate the men with grain during their occupancy of the monastery. His contumacy, or obstinacy, during the controversy, caused his opponent to abominate him. He leads a solitary life on that promontory. If you corroborate my statement, that anonymous writer will make a voluntary apology. Did not my position make it obligatory, I would not bear his contumely, or insolence. The compositor received an abdominal wound. The cosmopolite studied astronomy, biography, and chronology. Reproach is a concomitant, or companion, of apostasy.

2. Is it demonstrable that democracy is the best form of government? The majority favor economy. He studied geŏgraphy, geŏlogy, geŏmetry, philology, philosophy, zoŏlogy, mythology, and theŏlogy. Do you denominate that a demonstrative argument? That firm will monopolize all the mahogany in the metropolis. Knowing the predominance of verbosity in his style, you alone will be responsible if you give him priority in the debate.

3. It is consolatory to learn that the correspondence contains nothing derogatory to her character. Have the aristocracy more than a mediocrity of talent? A grānary is a repository for corn. That incorrigible drunkard has a hypochondriac complaint. Do you practice allopathy, hydropathy, or homeopathy? The hippopotamus awakened our curiosity. Deuteronomy means the second law. That interrogative sentence requires a categorical answer. The lexicographer understands etymology, physiognomy, physiology, and trigonometry, Meteŏrology treats of the atmosphere and its phenomena.

Dictation Exercises.

1. The cook wants culinary herbs. The legislature will pronounce that injurious act nugatory. Though these evils accumulate, they are superable. Such facts are deducible. He will adjudicate your claim and grant an annuity. That alluvial soil yields exuberant crops. The effluvium of the rose is pleasant. Our meeting was fortuitous, or unexpected. Do you expect a gratuity from that penurious man? His garrulity did not awaken enthusiasm. If I repudiate my debts, I will remunerate you. Intuitive evidence is indubitable. The salubrity of the climate, the immunities of the clergy, and the security insured by just laws, led the clergyman to emigrate. Read that voluminous work. God only can fill every vacuity of the soul.

2. My coadjutor, or assistant, embraced the first opportunity to make restitution. There is more ambiguity than perspicuity in those resolutions. His ingenuity enabled him to avoid a superfluity of words. His assiduity, or close application, has enabled him to acquire a thorough knowledge of elocution. That constitution will prevent revolutions, and insure the perpetuity of our free institutions.

Dictation Exercises.

1. His voluptuous life rendered him vulnerable to pulmonary attacks. During his incumbency, the president favored sumptuary laws. That matter, though combustible, is not destructible. The body is corruptible. Did that industrious man resuscitate your drowned friend? You calumniate those men, if you say they adulterate food. He had the effrontery to claim my dromedary, or Arabian camel.

IV. Miscellaneous Exercises.

ACCENT IN CERTAIN WORDS.

Dissyllables, when used as nouns or adjectives, that have the accent on the first syllable; and when used as verbs, on the second. A few dissyllables, which are at once nouns and adjectives, are distinguished by accenting the nouns on the first syllable and the adjectives on the last.

Dictation Exercises.

1. Why does your ab′sent friend absent himself? Did he abstract an abstract of your speech from the desk? Note the mark of accent, and accent the right syllable. Affix an affix to that word. Secure an augment to the army. Rain augments the stream. In Au′gust, the august′ writer entered into a com′pact to prepare a compact′ discourse. Buy some cem′ent, and cement the glass. If we colleague, my colleague will do the speaking. Read the collect. Collect the taxes. Compound the drugs. Man is a compound of flesh and spirit. Attend the concert. Concert measures.

2. Gold is a porous concrete. Blood concretes in a bowl. His conduct was good. Conduct your affairs with prudence. The army will not pass the confines of the state. Confine the criminal. The conflict was bloody. The laws conflict. The conserve is good. Conserve the fruit. The contest was perilous. Contest the claim. The contract is void. Moisture contracts a rope. Observe the contrast between a well-bred man and a clown. The shrub contrasts finely with the oak. Converse with each other. Hold converse with nature.

Convert ice into water. The convert is zealous. Convict the convict of his error. The convoy will convoy the fleet.

3. Desert us not in the desert. The bird sung her descant. People descant on your acts. Read the digest. Digest your reply. The escort will escort the king. Did he essay to write an essay? They will export our exports. Read an extract. Extract a tooth. Beer will ferment, if you put a ferment into it. He made frequent visits to the fort. He frequents dram-shops. The gallant youth will gallant the lady. Do you understand the import of his words? We import teas. Impress that fact on his mind. The age bears his impress. Earnest prayer is an incense that can never incense Deity. My increase is taken to increase your wealth. Instinct, not reason, rendered the herd instinct with spirit. His insult did not move me. Do not insult my friend. That interdict is just. Our laws should interdict the sale of rum.

4. Within a minute, I will find a minute piece of gold. If you remove that object, I will not object to the place. Perfume the room with rich perfume. Prefix a prefix to that word. One premise is false. I premise these remarks that you may know why I present this subject on the present occasion. The farmer will produce produce enough for his family. If that project fail, he will project another. The ships progress. He is commended for his progress in learning. He protests against your vote. The protest of the minority was not respected.

5. Why did that rebel rebel? Record the name. The records are lost. Did he refuse to accept the refuse papers? Retail the goods I bought at retail. That subject of discussion would subject you to annoyance. If he desire a surname, I will surname him Simple. He took a survey of the harbor. Survey the land. Avoid the place of torment. Torment me not. Transfer your right to the land. Is the transfer legal? Transport that upstart in the first transport that sails.

RULES FOR SPELLING.

1. Words of one syllable ending in f, l, or s, preceded by a single vowel, double the final consonant; as, staff, mill.

EXCEPTIONS.—As, gas, has, was, clef, yes, his, if, is, this, of, us, pus, thus.

2. Words of one syllable ending in any other consonant than f, l, or s, do not double the final letter; as, fan, sun.

EXCEPTIONS.—Add, burr, butt, buzz, ebb, egg, err, fuzz, inn, odd.

3. Words of one syllable, and words accented on the last syllable, when they end with a single consonant, preceded by a single vowel, double their consonant before an additional syllable that begins with a vowel; as, rob, robber; commit, committee.

EXCEPTIONS.—When the derivative retains not the accent of the root, the final consonant is not always doubled; as, prefer', pref'erence. X, z, and k are never doubled in English words. Words derived from gas have only one s; as, gas, gas'es.

4. A final consonant, when it is not preceded by a single vowel, or when the accent is not on the last syllable, remains single before an additional syllable; as, toil, toiling; peril, perilous.

5. Words of one syllable and English verbs end not with c, but take ck for double; as, rock, attack: but, in general, words derived from the learned languages need not the k, and common use discards it; as, music, public.

EXCEPTIONS.—Arc, lac, orc, zinc.

6. Words ending with any double letter, preserve it double before any additional termination not beginning with the same letter; as, see, seeing; hill, hilly; skill, skillful.

7. Words ending with any double letter, preserve it double in all words formed from them by means of prefixes; as, see, foresee; spell, misspell; roll, unroll.

8. Words of more than one syllable that end in l, except those that are formed from monosyllables ending in ll, terminate with a single l; as, excel, control.

9. Primitive words ending in a silent e, omit e before an additional syllable beginning with a vowel; as, remove, removal; idle, idling.

EXCEPTIONS.—Words ending in ce or ge, retain the e before able or ous; as, trace, traceable. The e is retained in verbs ending in oe and ee; as, shoe, shoeing; see, seeing. Singe, swinge, and tinge retain the e when followed by ing; as, singe, singeing.

10. Primitive words ending in silent e usually retain e before an additional syllable beginning with a consonant; as, pale, paleness; change, changeful.

EXCEPTIONS.—Awful, argument, abridgment, acknowledgment, duly, judgment, truly, wholly.

11. Primitive words ending in y, preceded by a consonant, change the y into i before any termination but 's, or one commencing with i; as, merry, merrier; pity, pitiless.

EXCEPTIONS.—The y is retained in words derived from dry and shy; as, dry, dryly; shy, shyness.

12. Primitive words ending in y, preceded by a vowel, do not change y into i before additional terminations; as, day, days; joy, joyful. When ing is added to words ending in y, the y is retained; as, defy, defying.

EXCEPTIONS.—Daily, laid, lain, paid, said, saith.

13. Compound words usually retain the spelling of the simple words which compose them; as, horse-man, shell-fish.

EXCEPTIONS.—In permanent compounds, or in derivative words of which they are not the roots, the words full and all drop one l; as, handful, fulfill, always, withal: in temporary compounds they retain both; as, full-eyed, chock-full, all-wise, save-all. When used as a prefix, miss drops one s; as, misspell. In the names of days, the word mass drops one s; as, Christmas. Pastime drops an s. Shepherd, wherever, and whosever, drop an e; and wherefore and therefore assume one.

Require pupils to give reasons, in accordance with the rules and exceptions, for the manner in which the words are spelled in the following

Dictation Exercises.

1. If his stiff staff and the muff be at the mill, I will get them as I pass. This class is full. Burn the gas. If you hiss, puss will run off.

2. My son ate an egg in the inn. If he add the numbers, he will not err. That odd lad has fuzz on his coat.

3. A robber robbed the foppish squatter. It is his preference that you commit the business to a committee. After his acquittal, the swimmer owned that he committed the crime.

4. I visited the toiling mechanic. The violist made a perilous descent. Equalize the labor.

5. I found some zinc on the wreck. He broke the rack on a rock. The maniac will attack you. The public like music.

6. The wooer passed many blissful moments. The pasture is hilly, and almost grassless. He acted oddly, and spoke gruffly. My agreeable friend noticed your recklessness and embarrassment.

7. I foretell, if you recall him, that he will misspell the word. I foresee, if you do not repass that house, that he will forestall your purchase, and undersell you.

8. The consul says that the leader of that cabal' is a rebel. I will control the damsel until you arrange the contract. That logical argument will dispel her fear, and render her mind tranquil.

9. Though the conduct of that admirable and adorable girl be blamable, I do not deem it advisable to censure her. The scene is imaginable, describable, and com'parable. The question is debatable, and the decision reversible. The fire is singeing that valuable dress. That agreeable and peaceable smith is shoeing a manageable and serviceable horse.

10. The life of that nameless man was peaceful. That careless and graceless girl acted rudely. What incitement, or encouragement, has he to submit tamely to her management? That lad's idleness and rudeness are wholly chargeable to his parents. Your acknowledgment was duly received. An abridgment of his argument will enable you to form a correct judgment. To me, the approach of death is truly awful.

11. His pitiful ambition happily provoked her merriment. Her giddiness and merciless conduct luckily justify my course. Her shyness and the dryness of his remark verified the report.

12. Her betrayer delayed his return. His boyish freaks destroyed my enjoyment. What he said, when verifying the statement, was edifying. He paid his debts daily. While occupying my house, he is multiplying my troubles.

13. The horseman found the snow knee-deep. The innkeeper will buy shell-fish. I found six handfuls of plums under the plum-tree. Always fulfill the laws of the all-wise Lawgiver. Do not misspell the following words: Christmas, pastime, shepherd, wherever, whosever, wherefore, therefore.

PREFIXES.[1]

A PREFIX is a word, or part of a word, placed before another to form with it a new word.

[1] Pupils should be required to thoroughly master the following Prefixes and Affixes; the Teacher carefully explaining how they modify or alter the meaning of the words here given. Short lessons should be assigned; and pupils should change, for each recitation, a given number of primitive words, with which they are familiar, into derivatives, introducing them into sentences in such a manner as to illustrate their meaning and use.

A Prefix usually changes or increases the meaning of a word before which it is placed; as UN, not, in *un*holy, which means not holy; though it is sometimes used to make a word more euphonious, or agreeable in sound, without changing the meaning; as UN in *un*loose—loose and unloose meaning the same thing.

I. SAXON OR ENGLISH PREFIXES.

A means at, in, or on; as, *a*far, at a far or great distance; *a*bed, in bed; *a*shore, on the shore.

BE, to make, before; as, *be*dim, to make dim; *be*speak, to speak (for) before.

Dictation Exercises.

1, 2. Be bold in spirit. Indulge no doubts; for they are traitors. There is always a right and a wrong; and, if you ever doubt, be sure you take not the wrong.

3, 4. To God the Father's throne
Your highest honors raise;
Glory to God the Son;
To God the Spirit, praise;
With all our powers, Eternal King,
Thy name we sing, while faith adores.

If in the darksome wild I stray,
Be Thou my Light, be Thou my Way;
No foes, no violence, I fear,
No harm, while Thou, my God, art near.

5–8. Professor Longfellow and His Excellency the Governor of Massachusetts will address the meeting. Brother James and Uncle Henry will dine with us at the American Hotel on Tuesday, the 11th of February. O, that I could merit, dear Sir, your friendship! A gentleman from the East visited the city of London. Did he visit New York City? Will a Christian labor on New Year's Day?

9, 10. The Sun walks upon the blue sea-waters. Science and Art, and Learning pale, all crown my thoughts with flowers. Winter weds with Spring. The tyrant Tempest is coming. Arise, and shake off your tears, Ashes and Oaks of a thousand years. The words, literally translated, were these: "The winds roared, and the rains fell, when the poor white man, faint and weary, came and sat under our tree."

11, 12. I have read "Prescott's History of Mexico." "Gray's Elegy in a Country Churchyard" is perhaps the finest poem of the kind in the English or any other language. His speech was with regard to the Effects of the Reformation.

MARKS USED IN WRITTEN LANGUAGE.

1. The Comma [,] marks the smallest division of a sentence, and usually represents the shortest pause.

2. The Semicolon [;] separates such parts of a sentence as are somewhat less closely connected than those divided by a comma, and represents a longer pause.

mûte, ûp, fûll.—ċ as k; ġ as j; ṅ as ng; ṡ as z; ċh as sh; ṫhis; azure.

3. The Colon [:] separates parts of a sentence less connected than those which are divided by a semicolon, and represents a longer pause.

4. The Period [.] is placed at the close of a declarative sentence, and usually represents a full stop. It must be used after every abbreviated word; as, Geo. Stevens, Esq.

5. The Interrogation Point [?] shows that a question is asked; as, Do you love flowers?

6. The Exclamation Point [!] is placed after words that express surprise, astonishment, admiration, and other strong feelings; as, "Alas, my noble boy! that thou shouldst die!"

7. The Dash [—] is used when a sentence breaks off abruptly; when there is an unexpected turn in sentiment; and when a long or significant pause is required.

8. Marks of Parenthesis ( ) are used when an expression which interrupts the progress of a sentence is introduced; as, I have seen charity (if charity it may be called) insult with an air of pity.

9. Brackets [ ] are chiefly used to inclose words that serve to explain one or more words of a sentence, or to point out a reference; as, Washington [the Father of his Country] made this remark. You will find an account of the creation in the Bible. [See Genesis, chap. i.]

10. Marks of Quotation [" "] are used to show that the real or supposed words of an author, or a speaker, are quoted; as, Socrates said, "I believe that the soul is immortal." These marks may be omitted when the matter taken is not given in the exact words of the author; as, Socrates said that he believed in the immortality of the soul.

11. The Index, or Hand [☞], points out a passage for special attention; as, "☞ All orders will be promptly and carefully attended to."

12. An Apostrophe ['], a mark distinguished from a comma by being placed above the line, denotes the omission of one or more letters; as, 'Tis, for it is. It is also used before s in the singular number, and after s in the plural, to indicate possession; as, Cora's rose, boys' hats.

13. The Caret [ʌ] is used only in writing, to point to letters or words above it that were accidentally omitted; as, Let me scrach ʌ eyes out! (t, his)

14. Marks of Ellipsis [——.... *] are formed by means of a long dash, or of a succession of periods or stars of various lengths, and are used to indicate the omission of letters in a word, of words in a sentence, or of one or more sentences; as, Friend C——s is in trouble. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, ... and thy neighbor as thyself." "Charity suffereth long, and is kind; * * * * Beareth all things, believeth all things, endureth all things."

15. The Hyphen [-] is chiefly used to unite the words of which a compound is formed, when each of them retains its original accent; as, I thank the all'-wise' God for the in'cense-breath'ing morn. It is placed after a syllable ending a line, to show that the remainder of the word begins the next line.

16. The Section [§] is sometimes used to divide books, or chapters into smaller portions.

17. The Paragraph [¶] is sometimes used to indicate a paragraph, or subdivision, in writing.

18. Marks of Reference.—The Asterisk, or Star [*], the Obelisk, or Dagger [†], the Double Dagger [‡], the Section [§], Parallel Lines [‖], and the Paragraph [¶], are used, in the order here presented, when references are made to remarks or notes in the margin, at the bottom of the page, or some other part of the book. Letters and figures, however, are now more generally used for marks of reference.

19. The Mackron, or Long [¯], is placed over a vowel to indicate its first or alphabetic sound; as, Rāge, ōld.

20. The Breve, or Short [˘], is placed over a vowel to indicate its second or short sound; as, Hăt, ĕnd, ŏn.

21. The Diæresis [¨] is placed over the latter of two vowels mȕte, ȗp, fȗll.—ċ as k; ġ as j; ṅ as ng; ṡ as z; ċh as sh; ṫhis; azure.

to show that they are to be pronounced separately; as, Creätor, aërial.

22. The Grave Accent [`] is placed over a single vowel to show that it is not silent, but that it forms a separate syllable; as, Blessèd, agèd.

Dictation Exercises.

1. "'Twas certain he could write, and cipher too." Sin, or moral evil, should excite the greatest abhorrence. He, and he only, is worthy of our supreme affections. Sound, sound the tambourine. The mind is that which knows, feels, and thinks. Honor, affluence, and pleasure seduce the heart. The poor and rich, and weak and strong, have all one Father. The twin sisters, Piety and Poetry, are wont to dwell together. Speak for, not against, these principles. He who teaches, often learns himself. The eye that sees all things, sees not itself. Boast not, my dear friends, of to-morrow. Come hither, Moor. Shame being lost, all virtue is lost. Such, in general, is the aspect of the country. When beggars die, there are no comets seen. Such as the tree is, such will be the fruit. Man was created to search for truth, to love the beautiful, to desire what is good, and to do the best.

2–4. Passion overcomes shame; boldness, fear; and madness, reason. Economy is no disgrace; for it is better to live on a little than to outlive a great deal. Religion must be the spirit of every hour; but it can not be the meditation of every hour. Every thing grows old; every thing passes away; every thing disappears. Many words are differently spelled in English; as, Inquire, enquire; jail, gaol; skeptic, sceptic. Men's evil manners live in brass: their virtues we write in water. Laziness grows on people: it begins in cobwebs, and ends in iron chains. Every one must, of course, think his own opinions right; for, if he thought them wrong, they would be no longer his opinions: but there is a wide difference between regarding ourselves as infallible, and being firmly convinced of the truth of our creed. The discourse consisted of two parts: in the first was shown the necessity of exercise; in the second, the advantages that would result from it. J. Wm. Webb, jun., Esq., at length became M. D., A. A. S.

5–7. Are there not seasons of spring in the moral world? and is not the present age one of them? You say you will repent to-morrow; but are you sure of to-morrow? Away, all ye ghosts and fiends! to your dark and frightful domains! Alas! those happy days are gone! How beautiful is all this visible world! how beautiful in its action and itself! If you will listen, I will show you—but stop! I do not know that you ow. To pull down the false and to build up the true, and to hat there is of truth in the old,—let this be our aim. There es—they only can understand who have known them—when pas- s dumb, and purest love reigns. I see in this world two heaps— one of happiness, and the other of misery.

8–11. Whether writing prose or verse (for a portion of the book is in prose), the author knows boŧh what to blot, and when to stop. Consider (and may the consideration sink deep into your heart!) the fatal consequences of a wicked life. The captain had several men died [who died] in the ship. You must be careful (nothing can be well done without care) not to mistake the proper use of brackets. [See Parker and Fox's Grammar.] "Know thyself" is a useful precept. To one who said, "I do not believe that there is an honest man in the world," another replied, "It is impossible that any one man should know all the world, but quite possible that one may know himself." In the New Testament we have the following words: "Jesus answered the Jews, 'Is it not written in your law,—I said, Ye are gods?'" "☞ No swearing will be permitted in this school."

12–14. If I'd a throne, I'd freely share it with thee. 'Twas sad by fits, by starts 'twas wild. A man's manners often indicate his morals. Men's passions, women's tenderness, and children's joys affect him not. The sun is the poet's and the invalid's friend. Mother's wag, pretty boy, father's sorrow, father's joy. The ox's hide is not good for ladies' gloves. Friend P——s has arrived. I am the Lord thy God. . . . Thou shalt have no other gods before me. Remember the sabbath-day, to keep it holy. * * * * For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, ... and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath-day, and hallowed it.

15–22. O sāilor-boy, sāilor-boy! pēace to thy sōul! Lĭfe-gĭving Religion cŏnquers kēen-eyed Revĕnge. Sŏft-eyed chĕrub-forms around thee plāy. There is a mother-heart in all children, as well as a child-heart in all mothers. To-day or to-morrow, the king will punish that ill-bred, low-minded, self-seeking, gold-worshiping, man-despising crowd. That agèd, mātronly woman found a glow-worm* in her bonnet. I found my day-book† under an apple-tree. The Creător formed aërial songsters. That blessèd and belovèd child loves every wingèd thing. That learnèd and agèd man says that bird is stripèd or streakèd.

* When the first word of a compound ends, and the second begins, with the same letter, they are united by a hyphen; as, Book-keeping, ear-ring.

† The hyphen is used in all compounds ending with the word tree or book; as, Beech-tree, shop-book.

The mistakes that arise from the use of wrong prepositions after these words, are very numerous. The more the distinction in the use and signification of words is weighed and attended to, the more clearly and forcibly shall pupils learn to speak or write. They should be required to construct sentences, embracing all the words in the preceding list, in which both the correct and the incorrect use of prepositions shall be given. To illustrate the manner in which sentences may thus be constructed, we introduce the following

Dictation Exercises.

He was averse to [not from] such an undertaking. His abhorrence of [not with] that deed, moved him to accede to her request. Abstain from the use of rum. He was accused of a crime by his cousin. Those streams abound in fish. Agree to what he has done. Actions should correspond with words. This thing corresponds to that. Initiate my son in spelling. Initiate him into our club. She will die of a disease; but he, by the sword. I will trust in the Lord, though I am not worthy of the least of his mercies.

The superiority of these Works,—in the simplicity, thoroughness, practicability, and completeness of their Elocutionary Instruction; in the amount and value of the Historical, Classical, Biographical, and other Information, furnished by notes; in the extent and quality of the Selections for Reading and Declamation; in their exact and full course of Instruction in Pronunciation; and in their uniform Progressiveness,—is urged by many of the ablest educators of the United States. It is not too much to say that their Pictorial Illustrations and Typography far surpass those of any similar books published in this country, and probably in the world.

Although these works are but recently completed, they are already in use in nearly all the State Normal Schools, hundreds of Academies, and in the Public Schools of New York, Brooklyn, Albany, Syracuse, Buffalo, Chicago, Milwaukee, Toledo, Cleveland, all the Schools of Minnesota, Newark, Trenton, Jersey City, New Orleans, Richmond, Va., Norfolk, Petersburg, Charleston, S. C., Wilmington, Del., Wilmington, N. C., Savannah, Memphis, Augusta, Ga., Macon, Selma, Ala., Jacksonville, Fla., Austin, Tex., Galveston, Vicksburg, Stamford, New London, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill, Sing Sing, Tarrytown, and very many other important cities and towns.
